

FastWrite — Quick Start Guide

AI Invoice & Bill Extraction · Private Beta · Windows

Part 1 — Start in 2 minutes (no API key, no card)

1. Download & install. Get the app from beta.fastwrite.tech. Right-click the downloaded FastWrite-Windows.zip → Extract All..., open the extracted FastWrite folder and double-click FastWrite.exe.

If Windows shows a blue “Windows protected your PC” screen, click More info → Run anyway (the beta is not code-signed yet; it is safe).

2. Create your account. Click Register, choose a username and password. You'll see: “✓ 100 free documents activated” — that's it. No API key, no credit card, nothing to configure. The account lives only on your computer.

3. Try it right now. Next to FastWrite.exe there is a Samples folder with test invoices:

- Sample_Invoice_1.pdf / Sample_Invoice_2.pdf — single invoices for your first extraction.
- Sample_Invoices_Batch.pdf — a 15-invoice batch.
- Sample_Invoices_100.pdf — 100 invoices: upload it and watch FastWrite process the whole file in about 2 minutes.

Upload a sample (or your own PDF), review the extracted data — supplier, amounts, VAT, line items, with a confidence score per field — then export or push to Xero.

The chip at the top shows your remaining free documents (e.g. “Free · 83/100 docs”).

Part 2 — Your own API key (when the free documents run out)

The 100 free documents run on our key. To continue after that, you bring your own Google Gemini key (BYOK) — you pay Google directly, a typical invoice costs a fraction of a cent. Every step below has its direct link:

Step 1 — Sign in to Google AI Studio. Go to <https://aistudio.google.com> and sign in with any Google account.

Step 2 — Create your API key. Open aistudio.google.com/api-keys and click Create API key. Copy the key somewhere safe.

Step 3 — Enable billing (prepaid). A key without billing has very low free limits. In AI Studio open the Billing section (aistudio.google.com/billing) and click Set up billing — it takes you to console.cloud.google.com/billing where you add a card (prepaid cards work). This upgrades the key to the paid tier: fast, no daily bottlenecks, pay only for what you use.

Step 4 — (Recommended) Restrict the key to Gemini only. Open console.cloud.google.com/apis/credentials, click your key → API restrictions → Restrict key, tick Generative Language API, then Save. If the key ever leaks, it can't be used for anything else.

Step 5 — Paste it into FastWrite. Open Settings → API Keys, paste the key into the Gemini API key field and Save. Your key is stored encrypted on your computer and never leaves it. With your own key you get the full beta trial of 10,000 documents.

Part 3 — Connect Xero (optional)

In Settings click Connect to Xero, log in at xero.com and authorize your organisation (secure OAuth 2.0 — you can disconnect anytime). No Xero account? Use Xero's free Demo Company first.

Questions or feedback? Just reply to the message that brought you here — as a beta tester, your feedback shapes the product. Thank you! · FastWrite · beta.fastwrite.tech